CME REPORT

Topic: Evaluation of Infertile Couple

A Continuing Medical Education (CME) session on the topic "Evaluation of Infertile Couple" was organized by Yellow Fertility & IVF Center at Shri Baba Mastnath Ayurvedic College, Asthal Bohar, Rohtak, Haryana on 25th September 2025 from 2:00 PM onwards.

The session aimed to enhance clinical understanding and diagnostic approach in the management of infertility. The keynote speaker, Dr. Isha Nandal, Fertility & IVF Consultant, delivered an insightful and comprehensive lecture covering the systematic evaluation of infertile couples.

The lecture highlighted important aspects including detailed history taking, physical examination, and essential investigations for both male and female partners. Emphasis was laid on modern diagnostic techniques such as hormonal profiling, ultrasonography, ovulation tracking, semen analysis, and advanced procedures like hysteroscopy and laparoscopy.

Various etiological factors responsible for infertility such as ovulatory disorders, tubal factors, uterine abnormalities, and male factor infertility were discussed in detail. The importance of individualized patient-centered management and timely referral for assisted reproductive techniques (ART) was also emphasized.

The session was interactive and provided valuable practical insights into real-life clinical scenarios. It proved to be highly informative and beneficial for all attendees.

The program concluded with a vote of thanks, appreciating the efforts of the organizing team and the valuable contribution of the speaker.
